

The Federal Communications Commission has granted us a full-power, uncommercial radio station at 89.1 MHz FM. Our studio is in Ames and our tower will be just south of Story City. We must be finished building and be on the air by August 2012 in order to keep these airwaves. Building and initial operations will cost approximately $100,000.

Like all community radio stations, KHOI must depend on listener support. Unlike commercial radio, a community station has no advertising. Donations keep the station operating.

COMMUNITY RADIO IS:

- Community Development
- Commercial free
- Programs with new perspectives
- Local and world topics
- Local News and Programming
- Local and world music
- Our own stories
- Agricultural programming
- Weather with Elwynn Taylor
- Pacifica Programming
- Democracy Now!
- And so much more ...
